

Rob Parker (Associate CIO, NHSX)

Paul Rice (Director of Digital Transformation, North East & Yorkshire)

What We're Talking About

- Digital Investment & Transformation since NPFIT
- Supporting ICS development – Looking forward
- Defining What Good Looks Like
- Digital Strategy Development
- National, Regional and Local Delivery Models

Digital Investment & Service Transformation: the last 5 years

Digital Investment Priorities: Agreeing 'What Good Looks Like'

Draft – For Comment

Digital Investment Priority	Basic	Developing	Advanced
Infrastructure Modernisation
Integrating Diagnostic Services
Digitising Clinical, Operational & Back-Office Services
Resource & Activity Management
Integrating Health & Care Data, Records & Workflows
Patient-Facing Services & Applications
Population Health Analytics & Intelligence

Dr Paul Rice PhD

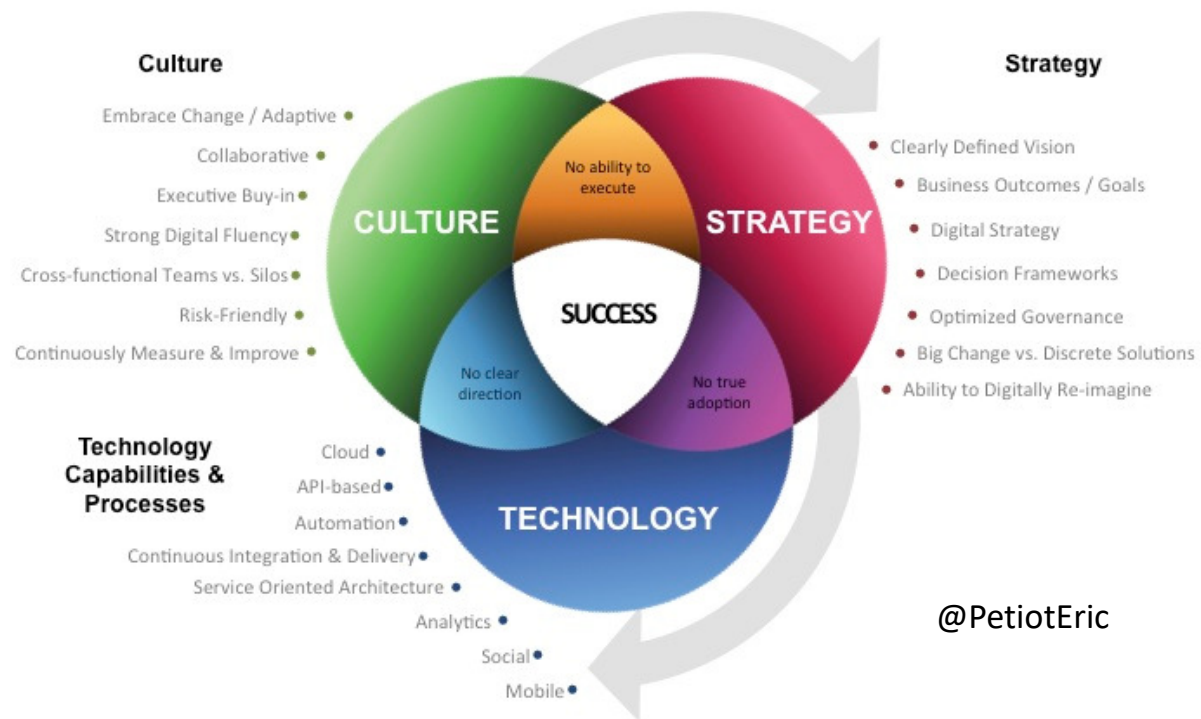

Regional Director of Digital Transformation
North East and Yorkshire

7th November 2019

NHS England and NHS Improvement

Digital Transformation

"We've changed the language of our IT now at the Cleveland Clinic to mirror that of our quality and safety," Marx explains. "So for us, culturally, everything is 'patient first.' Everything is focused around safety, and quality of care."

For example, the IT team approaches its work as if they and the clinicians are on the same mission – which, of course, they are.

"We use the same language that they do," said Marx. "We don't call it 'downtime.' We call it a 'serious safety event.' And we treat that exactly like the rest of the organization would treat a serious safety event."

Another is that the IT team thinks in terms of care pathways. "We've adopted the ITIL framework, and everyone has to be ITIL certified as a condition of employment," he said.

"But we don't talk about it that way in front of our customers, we talk about care pathways. Just like we have clinical care pathways to ensure we have the adoption of best practices, we do the same on the IT side. We've hardwired in these processes."

"Leading Innovation and Enterprise Transformation" Ed Marx – CIO Cleveland Clinic

Long Term Plan: Initial Reflections

I tend to agree with the view that “Plans are useless but Planning is Everything”

Anna Charles Blog
Kings Fund

26th September 2019

Our (new) digital assets

Our regional assets:

- Yorkshire and Humber Care Record = £15m
  - DIH – Data-CAN = £8.3m
  - NPIC = £17.1m
  - YIC = £6.1m
- = £46.5m invested in data assets in our region

Local Health Care Record Exemplar

Digital Innovation Hub

- Supporting the bid; convening partners; linking into NHS and academia

Access to the emerging AI Hub Funding

- Up to £150m over 3 years
- Large proportion targeted at NHS resourcing

BDRW Programme

Empower the Person: Empower our workforce

Sector by Sector; Profession by profession

Topol Review

LTP and Interim People's Plan

Leadership & culture

Capacity & Supply

Digital Literacy

Professionalism

Digital Academy

New/ Current Workforce

Inductions & Expectations

Sacred learning time/ Capacity to innovate

JDS/ PS inclusive of digital confidence

E-App to include digital objectives

CPD

Supervision / Action Learning Sets

Development of digital champions within practice

Future Workforce

Education and review of curricula

Work with royal colleges/HEIs

Person centric workforce planning

Job planning across sectors

Regulatory bodies, GMC, NMC

Digital apprenticeships

Leaders

System leadership support

Board development

Support for Middle Managers

National/regional Bodies knowledge

Digital behaviours embraced

Enablement

Digital passport

Single log-in

Digitalised system flow

PHM data/ dashboards

Collaboration tools

Agile working

IT intra-operability

The Technical Workforce

Recognition of 'technically fragile services'

Professionalisation

Retention / Talent programmes

Development programmes

One Workforce approach

NHS England and NHS Improvement

Megan Rapino speech to UEFA

She also urged others to use their voices to make changes in the game. “If we really want to have meaningful change, what I think is most inspiring would be if everybody other than Sterling and Koulibaly, if they were as outraged about racism as they were, if everybody was as outraged about homophobia as the LGBTQ players, if everybody was as outraged about the lack of equal pay and investment in the women’s game other than just women, that would be the most inspiring thing to me,” Rapinoe said.

“That’s my ask of everybody. We have such incredible opportunity, being professional football players ... we have so much success ... we have incredible platforms,” she said. “I ask everybody here to lend your platform, to lift people up, to use this beautiful game to change the world for better.”

Shuri Network

www.shurinetwork.com
@NetworkShuri

