2020 Conference

A Word from the Chairman ...

Last year, the title of our conference was 'Digital – are we there yet?', and we were looking at the challenges that Digital solutions presented to us. Who knew then that, within a few months, our whole approach would change!

Covid-19 has seen a rapid change in the way in which we deliver care, and a demand on digital solutions far greater than we could have imagined in such a short space of time. On the whole, our services delivered and have we delivered! To areas that were difficult to engage, slow on the uptake, 'won't work for me' opposers - suddenly, there was a large appetite for digital solutions and transformation at pace.

There have been many anecdotal tales about the demand for digital change and how C-19 drove the digital agenda, but this change has not simply been digital in some areas - it has been whole transformational change at a speed rarely seen in the NHS. There are very few individuals requesting a return to the old ways of working. The roll out of large scale video conferencing to clinicians who resisted in the past has been game changing and is but one example.

The importance and role of our own services have been heightened enormously with recognition of the part that we play in keeping our organisations running, by virtue of our ability to adapt, change, fix, move, increase, roll out, develop, provide etc. We have all played our part to support our Trusts and other organisations through this challenging time and we continue to do so with our numbers rising again on a daily basis.

The importance of NYHDIF has been equally tested, however. I have seen so many of you on our bi-monthly meetings - the change to a digital conference has meant that more of you can 'attend', which has highlighted the importance of being flexible and adaptable. The value of the network has also come to the fore, with our ability to support and help each other, and get key messages out to colleagues.

The conference this year is being held virtually. I am hoping you will all ensure you join the day to continue to support this group. Our day will be a reflection on the impact our response to C-19 has had on services in our organisations. I look forward to seeing you all on the Thursday 12th ...

Chairman, NYHDIF

Your Speakers ...

(in order of appearance)

Dr Richard Jenkins

Richard has been CEO of Barnsley NHS Foundation Trust since 2017 and Interim CEO at The Rotherham NHS Foundation Trust since February 2020. He also continues to work as a Consultant Endocrinologist, and has a strong interest in digital technology.

Jon Hoeksma

Jon is the CEO, editor and co-founder of Digital Health Intelligence, the independent publisher of daily news, intelligence and events to do with UK health IT, Jon previously co-founded EHI in 2001. He led the team that created the CCIO and Health CIO Networks and Summer Schools, and he also ran the influential national campaign for the appointment of CCIOs. His latest venture is Digital Health Rewired, which is already proving very significant and influential. Jon has had a successful career as an award-winning freelance IT, business and healthcare journalist.

David Burton

Dave runs the IT function for VMware across 40+ countries in Europe, the Middle East, Africa and Russia (EMEA). He is passionate about technology and how it releases true business value and drives personal productivity. Prior to joining VMware Dave spent 20 varied years at Unilever in technical and then management roles including running Global IT Audit, Global Collaboration and Digital Services, and, in his last role, being CIO for Europe.

John Mitchell

John is the Associate Director of IT for the four Humber CCGs, a member of the HCV ICS Digital Team, and chairs the Humber-wide Local Digital Roadmap Board. He is a keen supporter of record sharing and developing collaboration to break down the barriers to Successful and Agile care delivery.

Debbie Westmoreland

Debbie is the digital lead for North Yorkshire CCG, chairs the NY & VOYCCG Digital Collaborative, and is a member of the HCV ICS Digital Team. A strong advocate for digital solutions improving staff experience and patient care, of sharing records across health and care sectors, and proudly part of the NHS Digital Academy Cohort 3.

Dylan Roberts

Dylan has recently moved from being the CDIO for the City of Leeds covering both Leeds City Council and NHS to become the CDIO at York Teaching Hospitals. He is well-recognised internationally as a technology leader (22 years at CIO level), and was voted in the top 10 of the UK CIO 100 for three of the last four years, leading ground breaking work delivering better public and place-based outcomes through the innovative use of digital, smart cities and data.

Your Speakers ...

Paul Rice

Paul is the Regional Director of Digital Transformation for NHS England and NHS Improvement in the North East and Yorkshire. He is responsible for supporting and enabling the rapid and effective uptake of digital technology in care pathways and new service models across health and care. He has been the SRO (Senior Responsible Owner) for substantial national digital transformation programmes concerned with hospital care, mental health, primary care, maternal and child health and diagnostics.

Hannah Davies

Hannah's role is to put the voice of people at the centre of health and care in Leeds. She has previously worked in the private, public and third sector, and, prior to taking up the role of CEO at Healthwatch Leeds, she was a Director at Forum Central, the voice of the health and care third sector in Leeds.

David Melia

I have been the Director of Nursing and Quality at Mid Yorkshire for the past five years. I have been a Director of Nursing in two Trusts in the North West over the last 14 years. My main aim is on developing a sustainable workforce that delivers an excellent patient experience each and every time. This has meant looking at the way in which we can develop different skills and roles within the Trust. Proud that I work with colleagues that are focused on increasing and improving the impact of nursing and midwifery.

Eduardo Anglada

Eduardo joined InterSystems in May 2020, having spent the previous ten years at ESA (European Space Agency); the last seven years working on the Gaia project, helping the scientific community across Europe to do data processing. All his professional life has been involved, in one way or another, in IT and research, always working with multidisciplinary teams. Eduardo has a PhD, and is co-author of 23 scientific papers with almost 10,000 citations.

Paul Cook

Paul joined InterSystems as Sales Manager in 2016 having held previous roles at VMware and Cisco Systems. Paul has worked with the NHS for over 20 years and has a broad insight into the challenges and processes involved in the successful use of technology to assist health and care delivery.

NYHDIF are pleased to welcome
Statler and Waldorf to our Conference ...

Statler: This conference is off to a fast start.
Waldorf: Good. Maybe it'll end quicker!

Statler: You know, the older I get, the more I appreciate a good conference.
Waldorf: Yeah? What's that got to do with this?
Statler: Nothing - just thought I'd mention it.

The Northern, Yorkshire and Humberside NHS Directors of Informatics Forum is a well-established and friendly group providing support, information, friendship, and well-informed debate to Informatics Directors working in the NHS across the North-East, Yorkshire, and Humberside. The Forum meets on the second Friday of January, March, May, July and September, currently at Mercure Hotel, Wetherby, from 9:30am. The two-day annual Conference is held every November.

If you have not attended before, why not come along and find out what you've been missing. You won't regret it!
